Greetings,

Re: COVID-19 Unifor Website

In an effort to ensure that our members in British Columbia are receiving the most up to date information from our union regarding the COVID-19 pandemic, we ask your local offices to do the following:

1. If you have a local website, please post a notice on your site to direct members to visit unifor.org/covid19
2. Remind members this website is updated regularly
3. If your local does not have a website, and/or you have worksites that are still operating, please have them post the attached notice at the worksite (on Union bulletin boards, if available), which sends our members to unifor.org/covid19

This website page is not just about information on the virus itself, it's a hub of information related to:

- Industry and Sector information
- FAQ sheets and links for regional health sites
- Notices and updates from leadership, including media releases
- Pandemic policy demands
- Topics related to EI, health and safety, mental health and government initiatives

Please remember to read through the resource documents attached which were sent to all local unions last week.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out.

In solidarity,

Andrea MacBride
